

Inkjet Age of Materials

Inkjet Age of Materials Conference 2018 on September 5-6, 2018 at the Embassy Suites Chicago – Lombard/Oak Brook in Lombard, Illinois, USA.

The following confirmed speakers for this strategic conference for the inkjet industry will address advances, challenges, and opportunities associated with the role of raw materials, inks, fluids, etc. in inkjet applications expansion and market diversification.

Inkjet at the turning point

Mark Hanley, President, I.T. Strategies, Hanover, Massachusetts

Specialty chemicals for jetted fluids

John Cooper, President, TRS Consulting, Hendersonville, North Carolina

Inkjet materials play key role in applications diversification

Lawrence Gamblin, President, Kao Collins, Cincinnati, Ohio

All print starts with design – Why you should care?

Mark Geeves, Director of Sales & Marketing, Color-Logic Inc., West Chester, Ohio

Pre & post coat fluids development for aqueous inkjet commercial & packaging printing

Kim Champion, Vice President Inks & Materials, Memjet, San Diego, California & Molly Hladik, Technical Product Manager, Michelman, Cincinnati, Ohio

Presentation Title TBA

John E. Grant, Business Development Manager, Honeywell Performance Materials and Technologies, Morris Plains, New Jersey

How to support extended range of ink materials through printhead improvements

Nasser Budraa, Director of R&D, Ricoh Printing Systems America, Simi Valley, California

Water based inkjet inks for coated paper stocks

Daisuke Hamada, Executive Vice President (R&D), Kao Collins, Cincinnati, Ohio

Precision digital coatings

Dr. Alan L. Hudd, Director & Founder & Dr. Simon Kew, VP Technology and Business Development, Alchemie Technology, Cambridge, UK

New designs in UV & latex inks for graphics

Dr. Ray A. Work, III, President, Work Associates, Bradenton, Florida

UV low migration capable inkjet inks for packaging – where do they fit?

Tom Molamphy, Sales & Technology Manager Inkjet – North America, Siegwerk, Portland, Oregon

New compact low voltage EB equipment for curing inkjet inks for packaging & label markets

Im Rangwalla, Market Development Manager, Energy Sciences, Inc., Wilmington, Massachusetts